INTRODUCTION

The Highway Traffic Act was amended in 1999 to permit local municipalities to enact by-laws to permit the operation of all-terrain vehicles (ATV’s) and other off-road vehicles to travel upon roads under the jurisdiction of the municipality subject to a number of rules and regulations.

Farmers and trappers are legally permitted to operate ATV’s on highways provided they are licenced, the vehicle is plated, and the vehicle contains a slow moving sign.

ATV’s are defined as an off-road vehicle that has four (4) wheels, has steering handlebars, a seat designed to be straddled by the driver, and is designed to carry a driver only with no passengers. Off-road vehicles include dune buggies and argos.
